Independence weekend bashes

Boystown, Lincoln Park, East Village / Ukrainian Village

Exercise your right to sip, sample and shake your booty at a few choice bar soirees this weekend. Here are our faves:

»» Get all-you-can-eat burgers, hot dogs, mac 'n' cheese, watermelon, brownies and more, plus a pitcher of spiked lemonade at the barbecue at Minibar (3341 N. Halsted St. 773-871-6227). 5-8 p.m. Saturday. $20.

»» Head to the patio at Zella (1983 N. Clybourn Ave. 773-549-2910) on Sunday for the $20 brunch special (entree and mimosas) and $3.50 Effen patriot cocktails (cranberry, vodka and blue curacao). 11 a.m. Sunday.

»» Speaking of brunch, John Barleycorn (658 W. Belden Ave. 773-348-8899) keeps the meal on the weekend docket (11 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday; 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Sunday) with $5 bloodies and $1 sliders for those nursing hangovers. On Sunday, get a $12 all-you-can-eat barbecue buffet of ribs, burgers, Italian sausage, sides and salads from 3-9 p.m.

»» Get your picnic on at Division Ale House (1942 W. Division St. 773-384-6886), offering $7.95 pulled pork sandwiches with habanero-barbecue sauce and $1 discounts on domestic craft beer drafts. 11 a.m.-2 a.m. Sunday; 4 p.m.-2 a.m. Monday.

WATCH

Fourth of July fireworks

Lakefront

Nothing marks Independence Day like a triple dose of sky candy. After 30 years of Chicago's fireworks being launched from one spot on July 3, the city split the 'works in three. Here's where to get 'em: between 63rd Street Beach (6300 S. Lake Shore Drive) and Promontory Point (5941 S. Lake Shore Drive); from Montrose Beach (4400 N. Lake Shore Drive) to Foster Avenue Beach (5200 N. Lake Shore Drive); and at Navy Pier (600 E. Grand Ave.). Fireworks start simultaneously and are set to a musical accompaniment.

When: 9 p.m. Sunday

Grant Park, Loop

Is Waldo standing near the "L"? Perched on the Mag Mile? Visiting Pritzker Pavilion? Holding up a tree in Grant Park? Your guess is as good as ours as "Where's Waldo" hits the Windy City. Find the bespectacled, stripe-clad character and his pals Wizard Whitebeard, Wanda, Odlaw and Woof between the boundaries of Lake Street, Michigan Avenue, Jackson Street and Lake Shore Drive. The first 15 people who send photos of themselves with each character to Found@WheresWaldointheWindyCity.com get a screen-printed poster and serious Waldo street cred. (If you've spent hours with those darn books, you understand.)

When: 4-6 p.m. SundaySHOP Vintage Heaven Big Sale

Bucktown/Wicker Park

True lovers of vintage clothing, jewels and home goods will meet their match at this biggie one-day sale at Heaven Gallery (1550 N. Milwaukee Ave.). Sellers are local vendors who've done the dirty work for us and found the best and brightest vintage items for steal-of-a-deal prices. We've got our eye on the stunning rhinestone earrings from Substance Designs. For a glimpse, head to vintageheavenchicago.blogspot.com.

When: Noon-6 p.m. SaturdayFETE African-Caribbean International Festival of Life

Washington Park

The jewelry, clothes and crafts from nearly 200 vendors are as hot as the food and tunes at this 18th annual festival, expanding to four days this year in Washington Park (5500 S. Cottage Grove Ave.). Between shopping and noshing on eats at the international food court, take in performances by Shaggy (8:30 p.m. Saturday), Calypso Rose (7 p.m. Sunday) and Alison Hinds (8:30 p.m. Monday). $5-$15.

This weekend's Playlist comes from Colin Hettinger of Uptown. Create your own at metromix.com!

Jazzin' at the Shedd

Shedd Aquarium, 1200 S. Lake Shore Drive.

He says: Beautiful skyline, lakeside, penguins and Davis. Birth of the cool? Damn right.

Tapas Las Ramblas

5101 N. Clark St.

He says: Great spot in one of the coolest neighborhoods. Try the buffalo mozzarella. It's rich but good. A pitcher of sangria with fresh fruit goes down pretty easily as well.

Fion Wine & Spirits

426 W. Diversey Pkwy.

He says: The relaxed vibe of this wine bar belies the complexity of its wine cooler. Ask for Brett, let him know your type of drink (Sweet? Dry? Sour?) and trust him to do the rest.

Wonder women

The heroine of comic books, Wonder Woman, got an image makeover this week as DC Comics unveiled an updated look that takes her from a cleavage-bearing, skintastic outfit to something a little more modern and fierce. And Wonder Woman wasn't the only high-profile female in the news this week. Check out these alpha ladies who made headlines.

Oprah Winfrey

The Queen of Talk earned $315 million over the past year, jetting her to the top of the Forbes Celebrity 100 list that was released Monday. And The O wasn't the only woman on top of the power list—Beyonce Knowles clocked in at No. 2 and Lady Gaga was No. 4.

Elena Kagan

President Obama's nominee for the Supreme Court sailed through confirmation hearings this week. The proceedings became so loose at one point that Kagan fielded a question about the new "Twilight" movie. She is expected to receive full confirmation from the Senate sometime this month.

Serena Williams

The women's tennis powerhouse sailed into the women's final this weekend at Wimbledon. She will face Vera Zvonareva of Russia on Saturday as the overwhelming favorite to win her fourth singles championship at the All England Club.

That is the overall sales tax rate in Chicago after Cook County dropped its sales tax by half of a percentage point Thursday. Even with the reduction, Chicago maintains the distinction as having, with L.A., the highest sales tax rate in the country, according to the Chicagoland Chamber of Commerce.

DRIVE, BABY, DRIVE

Got wheels? Try a themed July Fourth road trip

By Genevieve Diesing | FOR REDEYE

Fourth of July weekend is upon us, so we should celebrate appropriately. Our founding fathers wouldn't have had it any other way.

Not only is the weekend an unofficial order to barbecue brats and stake out the fireworks, but it also comes with a bonus day off work for most of America.

And an extra free day is all the excuse Trent Reusnow, 30, needs to pick a spot on the map, pack some essentials and get behind the wheel for a road trip.

"In a short period of time, I can transport myself to a different era, pretend to be someone else for a few days or see magnificent creations either by man or nature," said the Logan Square resident, who estimates he's taken dozens of road trips.

Reusnow isn't the only one who loves to put the pedal to the metal anytime he can sneak out of town.

With Sunday's federal holiday, many are going to be following that urge this weekend. AAA estimates that roughly 2 million Illinoisans will travel for the holiday, and most of them will be driving. The improved economy seems to be helping, as Fourth of July road travel in Illinois is up 19.7 percent from last year, according to the travel group, even though gas prices remain about the same.

Does all of this talk of road-tripping have you thinking about hitting the highway? To help you come up with a plan, RedEye created three unique adventures. Follow one of our themed three-day plans or make one of your own—as long as you have some fun!

GENEVEVE DIESING IS A REDEYE SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

Beaches and Breweries Road Trip

Mileage: 485

Driving time: 9 hours

As the mercury rises, the beach looks like an increasingly hot prospect. And what goes better with fun in the sun than freshly brewed beer? For Chicagoans who want to spend less time on the road and more time splashing around, Grand Rapids, Mich., offers an enticing weekend getaway.

SATURDAY

» Make the leisurely, 3½-hour drive to Grand Rapids, Mich., a visitor-friendly town that is home to a number of breweries. The city also is conveniently located a short drive from Lake Michigan.

» Once you've settled into your hotel, head to the city's center to begin a tour of the town's many breweries. Three classic breweries that are in close proximity are Founders Brewing, Hideout Brewing Company and Schmohz Brewery. But remember to pace yourself—you've got a busy day ahead!

SUNDAY

» Pack a bag—not all of them, as you'll be staying at the hotel for another night—for a day trip to Grand Haven, a beach town that's about a 45-minute drive to the west.

» Browse the shops, stop for lunch and log some serious beach time in this waterfront community. If you don't mind a late drive back to the hotel, stay to catch a 10:10 p.m. display of the city's enormous musical fountain.

MONDAY

» Before you bail, take a few hours to check out Belknap Hill, one of Grand Rapids' most prominent landmarks. The modest river bluff offers a nice view of Grand River and is a popular site for marriage proposals.

» Get your tan, relaxed, well-fed self back in your car for the short drive back to Chicago.

Go fishing from the pier at the lighthouse at Grand Haven State Park. TRIBUNE FILE

Baseball Americana Road Tour

Mileage: 1,104

Driving time: 18 hours, 25 minutes

What better way to celebrate America's independence than by exploring one of America's greatest pastimes? A handful of major league stadiums are a day's drive away—or less—and we've got two of them on this itinerary.

SATURDAY

» Get an early start today by taking a drive to Busch Stadium in St. Louis to catch the Cardinals as they host the Milwaukee Brewers ($24 and up) at 3:10 p.m.

» After refueling, settle in for about five hours of driving west toward Kansas City.

SUNDAY

» You've got plenty of time to sleep off the drive before an 11 a.m. tour of Kauffman Stadium ($10), which underwent a renovation before the 2009 season. (You'll have to come back another weekend to see a game—the Royals are on the road this weekend.) A tour will take you to areas of the ballpark not normally open to the public, including the Royals' dugout, Crown Club and visitors' locker room.

» Don't snack too much throughout the day. Kansas City is known for its barbecue joints, and if you arrive before 10 p.m. you might be able to grab a table at Arthur Bryant's, once dubbed the world's best restaurant by Playboy columnist Calvin Trillin.

BASEBALL

MONDAY

» Head northwest to Peoria to catch a minor league game as the Peoria Chiefs host the Clinton LumberKings ($3.50-$5) at 1 p.m. Dinner plans are easy tonight: hot dogs and beer!

» The drive home should be leisurely and relatively brief, so capitalize on the good vibes by singing "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and—if you're feeling especially patriotic—"The Star Spangled Banner."

SHOPPING & MORE

Mall of America Road Trip

Mileage: 840 Driving time: 15 hours

So you think you can shop? Put yourself to the test by making a pilgrimage to the massive and iconic Mall of America, where you don't even need to make a purchase to be entertained (but it's more fun if you do!).

SATURDAY

» It's a long drive to Bloomington, Minn., so why not warm up your credit card by doing a little shopping along the way? The shops near the University of Wisconsin campus in Madison, Wis., offer a quirky mix of food, culture and fun.

» Before you leave town, make sure your legs are ready for some mall power-walking by wandering through 16 acres of outdoor gardens at Olbrich Botanical Gardens (free).

» In the afternoon, point your car northwest toward Minnesota's mecca of shopping. Location alert: Country Inn & Suites ($129 a night) is across the street from the mall. And if you choose to stay there, be sure to ask about the hotel's Mall of America coupon book and complimentary shopping bag.

SUNDAY

» What are you waiting for? Start shopping! The mother of all malls, which claims to attract 40 million visitors a year, offers 520 retail stores, 50 restaurants and a theme park. If you want a break from shopping—yeah, right—check out Brain Surge, a 35 mph thrill ride based on a Nickelodeon game show.

MONDAY

» On your way home, do some quick math to figure out if you still have any room left on your credit cards. If you do, stop by the Tanger Outlet Center in Wisconsin Dells, Wis., which includes more than 60 stores. That might not compare to the Mall of America, but what will anymore?

GEAR UP

As any experienced road warrior will tell you, road trips aren't as simple as jumping in the car and speeding off into the great yonder. RedEye consulted some road trip veterans for a handful of tips on making the most of three days roaming the country by car. G.D.

Ready your ride

Before you put a month's worth of miles on your car in a single weekend, check your car's fluid levels, says Bob Loehr, manager at Milito's Mobil, a full-service auto shop in Lincoln Park. If you haven't changed your oil recently, now's the time. Make sure your antifreeze, brake fluid and windshield wiper fluids are up to snuff and not leaking, and don't forget to ensure your tires are properly inflated. "These are quick things you can do yourself," Loehr notes.

Pack your snacks

Fill a cooler with cheese, cold cuts, bottled water and various juices, suggests Brian Salgado, 29, an experienced road-tripper from Old Irving Park. "Sports drinks are a good bet, too, because they'll help speed up recovery after someone gets carsick—or, more likely, hung over," he says.

Let fate be your DJ

More is more when it comes to music selection during long drives, Salgado says, and he doesn't try to control the music. "I shy away from playlists or mix CDs and let the cosmos tell me what I need to hear via shuffle," he says. "The universe knows best." Which leads us to the next tip...

Embrace the unexpected

The music methodology applies to navigation too. "It's a good idea to plan for some random stops along the way," Salgado notes. "There are always signs directing travelers to unusual points of interest that you might not have originally planned to see."

Make yourself comfortable

"I always bring at least one blanket and a pillow with me to use when I take breaks from driving," says road trip junkie Trent Reusnow, 30, of Logan Square. "Even if I'm not using them to sleep, it's easier to relax when I'm cozy and comfortable."

Lewd, crude and totally '80s

By Tenley Woodman

BOSTON HERALD

"Hot Tub Time Machine" is absurd—and that's what makes it great.

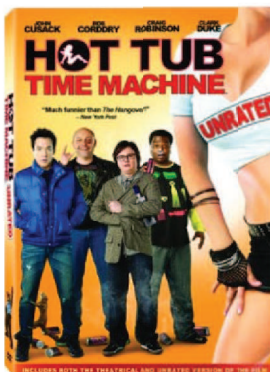

An accident reunites estranged friends Adam (John Cusack, "2012"), Nick (Craig Robinson, "The Office") and Lou (Rob Corrdry, "Party Down").

Nostalgia grips the frustrated, middle-aged trio, and they embark on a weekend bender at their old haunt, Kodiak Valley, with Adam's dorky nephew Jacob (Clark Duke, "Greek") in tow. The reunion gets trippy when a drunken dip in the hotel's hot tub sends them back to 1986.

Scholars of '80s pop culture will love references to teen films of the Reagan era, from "Better Off Dead" to "Back to the Future." (Keep an eye out for ultimate '80s villain William Zabka of "The Karate Kid.")

"Hot Tub Time Machine" is rife with lewd jokes and geeky wit. The most memorable bits were kept in the theatrical cut, making this unrated version unnecessary.

Still, there are worse ways to spend an hour and a half.

Sanctuary: The Complete Second Season

Available now

At least a dozen extras on the "Sanctuary" Season 2 Blu-ray set augment 13 strong episodes featuring Dr. Helen Magnus (Amanda Tapping) and her crew struggling to protect humanity from the world's extraordinary creatures—and the "abnormals" from man. The best extras are the bloopers reel, plus co-star Robine Dunne's behind-the-scenes and "Sanctuary Goes to Japan" video diaries. In these we see how close cast, crew and creators have become. The extras make up what could be a sitcom reality show.

CURT WAGNER, REDEYE

TV

'Jaws' movie marathon

All day Sunday, Encore

Watch as the "Jaws" movies go from classic thriller ("Jaws," 3:45 a.m./11:40 a.m./7 p.m.) to campy embarrassment ("Jaws: The Revenge," 10:05 a.m./5:30 p.m./12:45 a.m.). Director Steven Spielberg made a name for himself with the original 1975 "Jaws," which starred Roy Scheider, Robert Shaw and Richard Dreyfuss and that big mechanical shark that scared the sass out of moviegoers. Then came "Jaws 2" (5:50 a.m./1:50 p.m./9:05 p.m.), "Jaws III" (7:50 a.m./3:50 p.m./11:05 p.m.) and the toothless "The Revenge."

CURT WAGNER, REDEYE

VIDEO GAME

Transformers: War for Cybertron

Xbox 360, PS3

Luckily, Activision's newest game based on the '80s toy has almost nothing to do with the "Transformers" movie franchise. "War for Cybertron" acts as a prequel to all of the cartoons and movies and comics. Many childhood fantasies will be fulfilled through the game's multiplayer mode, in which you actually can design and customize your own Transformer to take into battle against other players. Make a Transformer and no Shia LaBeouf? We're in. RYAN SMITH FOR REDEYE

MUSIC VIDEO

Celestica

Crystal Castles

The video from the band's critically acclaimed self-titled album "Crystal Castles" is composed mostly of shots of singer Alice Glass wondering through a graveyard and idling in the grass while looking coldly stunning.

So it's not exactly a video for those who like big, expensive special effects. Whatever your budgetary preference, it can be agreed that the song itself is a perfectly chilly antidote for this steamy summer season.

MARIA SCHURR, POPMATTERS.COM

SONG

Misery

Maroon 5

Time for Maroon 5 to trot out more uptempo funk-tinged pop with scratch guitar and playful Adam Levine (left) vocals. But should they really sound so happy about "Misery"? After all, the chorus is, "I am in misery, there ain't nobody who can comfort me. ... The silence is slowly killing me." Either those words mean something else to them or they don't believe music and lyrics need to fit together. Misery, indeed. GLENN GAMBOA, NEWSDAY

10 FOR '10 (SO FAR)

By Matt Pais METROMIX

How is 2010 doing so far on the big screen? Eh, not great. Too many disappointments ("Iron Man 2," "Alice in Wonderland") and too much flat-out garbage ("Marmaduke," "The Back-Up Plan," "The Last Airbender"). There have been a handful of major keepers, though, including a new addition to the top tier of the Pixar universe. Read on, then head to the theater! MATT PAIS IS THE METROMIX MOVIES PRODUCER.

2 Winter's Bone

Chilling as the woods in the dark, this quiet mystery has kindness and humanity sprinkled across hopelessness so constant you forget to breathe.

3 A Prophet

Wow. This French crime epic, a Cannes prize winner and Best Foreign Film Oscar nominee, is a great example of the kind of movie American filmmakers rarely deliver.

4 Mystery Team

Spectacularly funny and refreshingly free of irony, "Mystery Team" is just plain hilarious, with laughs that don't taper off as the plot progresses. The film brings wit and sweetness to that amusingly innocent spirit.

5 Joan Rivers: A Piece of Work

Rivers sees less shame in a middle-of-nowhere gig than in an empty calendar. We see her plastic surgery and persistence as both admirable and bittersweet.

6 Summer in Genoa

Through guilt and sorrow you can feel the distance between these family members, and you know a movie like this is working when it holds you tight and nervous in every moment, even when little is happening.

7 Date Night

It's exactly as funny as a Steve Carell-Tina Fey movie should be. "Date Night" is about recapturing joy by escaping stress, and that's precisely what happens by watching it.

8 Restrepo

The documentary is nothing if not a triumph of access, even if the interviews pull us out of the Afghan combat experience. We see the dread of the men realizing even the best fighter can be killed, and we're there for their brief release during a spontaneous dance party when the bullets have quieted and the right song comes on.

9 Casino Jack and the United States of Money

Those compelled by secrecy in Washington will find a devastating, disturbing examination of political back-scratching. There's so much evidence that the only thing more shocking than these guys' despicable behavior is that they got away with it for so long.

10 Kick-Ass

One of the best revenge flicks since "Kill Bill," the badass "Kick-Ass" is packed with little pockets of awesomeness waiting to be activated.

1 Toy Story 3

Achieves levels of warmth and excitement that the sometimes-frantic original and episodic sequel didn't. It's pure joy in a box, a wonderful, clever present waiting to be unwrapped.

Vamped-up drama

Bella (Kristen Stewart), paraphrased: “Bite me, Edward [Robert Pattinson], and make me a vampire like you.” Edward: “Only if you marry me. No sex before then or I might kill you.” Jacob (Taylor Lautner): “Bella, you belong with me, a werewolf who has blood but doesn’t drink it. Plus, have you seen these abs?”

The buzz: It wouldn’t take much to top the first two room-temperature “Twilight” movies, also known as Dopey and Mopey. Taking the reins of the more action-driven third part of Stephenie Meyer’s hit series—in which Edward and Jacob must join together to fight an army of new vampires—is director David Slade, who has experience with both uneasy sexual tension (“Hard Candy”) and vampires (“30 Days of Night”).

The verdict: Finally some serious heat and breathless chill. As young love is complicated by hard choices and danger from every angle, Bella at last has internal conflict and Stewart is up to the challenge. This is the movie where she and Pattinson become movie stars, even if Lautner still can’t nail two scenes in a row. The material always will have way too many characters and terrible emotional exchanges that may as well come with stickers and glitter on the screen. Yet in “Eclipse,” the relative corniness works with the movie and its young characters, not against them. Previous directors Catherine Hardwicke and Chris Weitz seemed afraid they’d kill “Twilight” if they got too close; Slade takes the series with both hands and plants a big, confident wet one right on the lips. MPAIS@TRIBUNE.COM

WHAT PEOPLE ARE REALLY EATING AT THE TASTE OF CHICAGO

Turkey legs! Funnel cakes! Corn on the cob! Oh my! New-in-2010 Taste of Chicago treats such as bissap sorbet from Iyanze (4623 N. Broadway. 773-944-1417) and tilapia tacos from Carbon (300 W. 26th St. 312-225-3200) may be the talk of this year's food fest, but many brave the crowds and the heat in Grant Park for familiar favorites. We sauntered down to Grant Park to find out what you're really eating, and if it was truly tasty. PHOTOS AND TEXT BY ALEC QUIG FOR METROMIX

See Spot. See Spot adopt an eco-friendly life

My dog, Scoop, probably isn't the eco-friendliest pup in the world—he's chewed up too many new shoes—but I try to keep his carbon pawprint relatively small. Keeping your pet green probably doesn't seem like it makes much of a difference, but according to petside.com, pets can have a greater environmental effect than SUVs.

Just think about how many products your dog or cat goes through a year: kitty litter, toys, poop bags, shampoos, food. Do you travel with your pet? That adds to your pet's eco-impact too.

There are plenty of ways to help your furry friend make a difference, and remember that doing something is better than doing nothing. Here are five tips to get you going.

» Buy biodegradable poop bags for your dog. You know how plastic bags are terrible for the environment? Now imagine those bags filled with doggie doo-doo, sitting in landfills for 100 years. Not a pretty thought. For cats, consider plant-based kitty litter. According to Petside, the standard clay litter is strip-mined.

» Try to find toys, beds and collars made from sustainable or recyclable materials, such as hemp, or products made from recycled plastic bottles. While Scoop can't appreciate his hemp collar, it gives me a little eco-satisfaction. You also can try making toys out of scrap materials you have around the house.

» Avoid foods with synthetic colors, hormones and animal by-products. Even if organic is not an option, opt for food with ingredients you know and can pronounce, just as you would with your own food.

» If you're looking to get a pet, adopt instead of buying. You'll be helping to control the pet population as well as giving a homeless animal a home.

» And here's one for man and man's best friend: Take a walk to the vet, store or park instead of driving to reduce both of your carbon footprints.

Trombone Shorty celebrates July 4 in Chicago area

Trombone Shorty & Orleans Avenue

FitzGerald's 30th annual American Music Festival

When: 9:45 p.m. Sunday

Where: FitzGerald's, 6615 Roosevelt Rd., Berwyn

Tickets: $35 Saturday and Sunday

Info: fitzgeraldsnightclub.com

By Carol Hilker

FOR REDEYE

Trombone Shorty started playing trombone before his arms were long enough to reach the end of the slide.

Now the 24-year-old (real name: Troy Andrews) is an accomplished musician whose music is featured on the new season of MTV's "The Real World" and as an actor in HBO's "Treme," a drama based in his native New Orleans in the months after Hurricane Katrina.

The trumpeter, trombonist, composer and bandleader appears as his younger, 19-year-old self in "Treme," named after his neighborhood.

"What they are doing on the TV show, it's authentic," Shorty said. "Some of those scenes they show, I have seen before."

With Season 1 of "Treme" in the books, Shorty is on the road with his six-piece neo-jazz band, Orleans Avenue, to promote its recently released debut studio album, "Backatown." The band will perform Sunday in the Chicago area at FitzGerald's 30th annual American Music Festival.

RedEye caught up with Shorty by phone to talk about acting, Fourth of July memories and his band's "supa-funkrock" blend of jazz, rock, hip-hop and R&B.

How accurate is the HBO show "Treme" to the real thing?

The TV show is actually named after Treme, but all of it is not about just that. They do capture most of the things that the musicians and the city go through.

You have said that the Treme community raised you. What was it like growing up in a musically charged neighborhood?

I was a student of music and wanting to play music, and all the great New Orleans musicians lived there, like Kermit Ruffins and Tuba Fats. I remember as a kid waking up to go to school and seeing a jazz funeral, or somebody celebrating a birthday party and the band's playing. Even the nonmusicians in [Treme] will show me different rhythms. They can't tell me musically, but they can hum it or tap it out on the street post or a sign or anything. It's like a musical heaven.

You'll be performing in the Chicago area on July 4. What's your favorite Fourth of July memory?

I think the most memorable was a show I played with my brother. I must have been 13 or 14. We were in either Spain or France, and we played at the American embassy. We did it New Orleans style—brass band, parade, everything.

What is the craziest thing that has ever happened to you onstage?

Once I invited the entire audience onstage, and I almost fell off that stage because there were so many people. We're talking about a few hundred people on the stage. We were all jumping, and I thought we was going to cave in. They almost forgot that we were supposed to be doing the show. I was like, 'OK, give me a little space so we can play the ending of the song,' because the band couldn't see me.

You play a lot of live shows and really seem to get into the energy of the crowd. Is that hard to bring into the studio?

Sometimes. But you know, all the musicians are trained and very professional, so we just ... do what we have to do. If something won't fly, then we'll rewrite some things. But we get into it, we just start jamming out, we get our blood flowing and we start recording.

If you could pick anyone to play with ...

It would be Stevie Wonder. Hopefully, that will be on my Christmas gift list.

What is your first memory of music?

There is no memory. I think I [was] given the trombone or some type of musical instrument as soon as I was born. I do remember being carried through the crowd at a jazz festival, where they put me on a stage with Bo Diddley. I played with him when I was, like, 4 years old.

Where do you see yourself in 10 years?

Hopefully, we can be in arenas and I can be a trombone arena player. Other than that, I'd like to keep the music alive in New Orleans, so I'll probably be doing a lot of work to help the younger generation come up.

What do you think is the most important advice you've ever been given?

Stay away from drugs, and your trombone will be your passport to see the world. And that it has.

Women's tennis stars crank up the volume

By Ryan Smith

FOR REDEYE

Short of subscribing to Playboy TV, it's difficult to find as much earsplittingly loud female shrieking as heard on the Wimbledon broadcasts, which conclude with the finals this weekend. Last year, former No. 1 Martina Navratilova called for grunting to be purged from women's tennis, but the primal yells coming from the courts are as loud as ever. According to readings taken by the British tabloid Daily Mail, the women holler at astonishing volumes. Let's check the decibel numbers against the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association standards.

She was booed recently by crowds at the French Open for her overpowering howl, but Wimbledon fans who value their hearing can relax—Larcher de Brito was swatted aside in the first round by Serena Williams.

Enter a number between 1 and 9 in the empty squares. The clues are the numbers in the white circles that give the sum of the solution numbers: above the line are across clues; below the line are down clues. Thus, a clue of 3 will produce a solution of 2 and 1, and a 5 will produce 4 and 1, or 2 and 3, but, of course, which squares they go in will depend on the solution of a clue in the other direction. No digit can be repeated in a solution. Answer at redeyechicago.com/puzzles. EDITED BY MICHAEL MEPHAM

ACTION JACKSON

Talk about special powers—Rathbone is in 2 big movies this week

Please, someone get Jackson Rathbone's agent a raise! Seriously, Rathbone already has a pretty good gig as Jasper, Robert Pattinson's vampire brother in the "Twilight" flicks, but now he's on the cusp of becoming a household name in homes without a Twi-hard population.

See, while all those shrieking girls watch Rathbone in "Eclipse," the rest of the world can watch Rathbone the next theater over in this weekend's other big-budget release, M. Night Shyamalan's "The Last Airbender." In that flick, Rathbone plays Sokka, the main character's enterprising best friend, in a tale of air, water, earth and fire manipulation.

Yeah, we know Rathbone isn't carrying these films himself, but if "Airbender" does well, he'll be involved in the other two films planned for that trilogy. In that case, you'll be wishing you paid more attention to this double-franchise star from the get-go. But if you can check out only one Rathbone character this holiday weekend, which should it be? ARIEL ALEXOVICH, REDEYE

Who is Ed Westwick's celebrity crush?

The "Gossip Girl" star told entertainment blog popsugar.com he's got a thing for Scarlett Johansson and Miranda Kerr, but they're off the market.

"I like the older ones," Westwick, 23, said. "The ones around my age, the Kristen Stewarts of the world, don't really do it for me. I'm a man with the eye on the older girl, I'm afraid."

For the record, Johansson and Kerr are 25 and 27, respectively.

Peas in 3-D

"Avatar" helmsman James Cameron will direct a 3-D movie about the Black Eyed Peas' world tour, frontman will.i.am told Vibe recently. "We have the biggest director because we are the biggest group on the planet," he said, adding that it will be filmed in South America.

'Runway' road show

Reznor rocks Facebook

Trent Reznor has created the sound of Facebook, or at least the Facebook movie. According to nin.com, the Nine Inch Nails frontman has written the score to "The Social Network," the film about the founding of Facebook that is scheduled to open Oct. 1. The movie stars Jesse Eisenberg, Rashida Jones, Justin Timberlake and the new Spider-Man, Andrew Garfield.

Waiting for LeBron

LeBron James has been so busy sorting out his basketball future that he's put his film career on hold. Filming of "Ballers," a project with James at the center, has been postponed until next summer, variety.com reports. The movie originally was slated for an August shoot in Miami.

Happy birthday, Lilo

On your birthday, you're supposed to get a razzing—and maybe a spanking, if you're into that kind of thing. Birthday girl Lindsay Lohan got smacked. "A waitress just hit me—punched me for no reason," Lohan, 24, tweeted early Friday. Someone get that girl a cake!
